

*The best of human nature always reveals itself in response to the worst.
Compassion, service and a genuine sense of community is the most powerful antidote to the disease of hatred.*

- Michael Josephson